Medill McCormick Predicts Voters Will Appreciate Republican Record

VISITS SENATOR PEPPER

The thirty-three United States senstorial elections this fall will result in the defeat of at least ten Democratic andidates for re-election, and the maority in the Upper House of Congress m be increased by that number. This rediction was made today of Senator fedill McCormick, of Illinois, at the ome of Senator Pepper, near Devon. The National Republican Senatorial committee, of which Senator McCormick is chairman, would be in the full swing of the campaign, which will asmine a national aspect, in another month, the Senator said.

Senator McCormick's visit was not efficial, and much of the time was spent in a lively discussion with Senator Pepper on the relative merits of Jersey and Holstein cuttle. Senator Pepper has a fine herd of Jerseys, and Senator McCormick has a herd of Holsteins., which he believes to be equally fine.

Return to Washington Today Senator McCormick will return to Nashington today with Senator Pep-er, He came to Senator Pepper's home saturday night.

"The Senatorial Committee is pre-paring to take to the field." he said.
The Maine election on September 11 will be its first effort, and we are confient of the return of Senator Hale, the

"The campaign that is under way is fording an unusual political spectacle during a so-called off year.

"The record of the Republican maority in Congress and of the Republi-an Administration of economic recovry in America, of retrenchment in pubhe expenditures and of reduced taxa-tion must be measured by the task bequenthed to us by the Wilson Democnec, and by the economic condition of the states of Europe and Asia and in the Americas south of the Rio Grande.

Praises Republican Record

"Since Warren Harding took office the Republicans have written a substantial record. Americans are realiz-ing now as they never have before the reat measure in which Congress and be Administration have contributed to the general recovery of the country.
"The country has hardly understood the magnitude of the task that was be-fore Congress and the Administration. The news from other places on the trol an earth has filled the papers almost to the family. exclusion of lengthy accounts of the paremitting and unromantic labors of

'Ma" Cooper Says More Intoxicated Girls Are Brought Into Central Station Than in Old-Time "Wet" Days

Silver-haired, and with eyes that shine with kindliness and sympathy, Mrs. Margaret Cooper, for twenty-five years the matron at Central Station, City Hall, is known to all around the ball as "Ma" Cooper.

Hundreds, yes, even thousands, of girls and women have poured forth their troubles to her, and despite her long years of service, "Ma" Cooper has not become "hardened." and she has a fresh interest for each girl who is sent to her. "I do not have nearly so many girls sent to me now as I once did," she says. "From 225 to 250 a month the number has gone down to less than a hundred. The majority of my cases now "From 225 to 250 a month the are larceny, particularly shoplifting Girls want to primp and look pretty— because men like prettily-dressed girls and with not enough money to buy the things they want, they will take to shoplifting."

Mrs. Cooper was asked if the girls showed remorse when they were caught. "Some of the girls do, of course, "Some of the girls do, of course, and in some cases it is genuine, but in others they figure that if they weep and wail they will be used less harshly. Some women have their children with them, thinking, perhaps, they will get off easier.

"The hardest thing I have to do is to take children away from their mothers. Last week I had a woman with a little boy and girl, and, oh, how she did cling to them! No matter how down and out a woman may be, she almost always has the true mother love for her children.

"I had a girl in here last week for shoplifting. She had been searched at the store, and I searched her, but I got thinking it over and had an idea I should search her again. She's been sent here several times before. Of course, she told me I was silly to bother, but just the same I noticed she held her devilty."

Linde August Furniture Sale

Prices guaranteed below all others or money back

Any store which shrieks, "Don't Make Comparisons," while trying to convince you that it is the "one-and-only," does it because of one or all of these reasons: Its goods are inferior; its assortments are meager; its prices are higher; its values are smaller; its savings are less.

Don't be deceived. Your only safety lies in comparison. Look around. Examine the Furniture itself. Then compare carefully the prices. Tag reductions mean nothing. You can't tell by the tag. See the goods. Then let your own common sense guide you.

This Linde Sale is breaking all records. We understand other sales are moving very slowly. It is not at all surprising. The public is quick to learn nowadays where its best interests lie. The great selling of last week at the Linde Store indicates that the people know where the real Furniture bargains are to be found. For largest assortments, biggest values, lowest prices and greatest savings you must come to the Linde Store.
